Anas:

Daddy, Mommy, thank you for this food... Yum yum yum!

Mom:

Wait, Anas! You didn't say: "Bismillah al-Rahman al-Raheem" before eating!

Anas:

Okay then... Bismillah al-Rahman al-Raheem!

Dad:

Do you know what those words mean, my son?

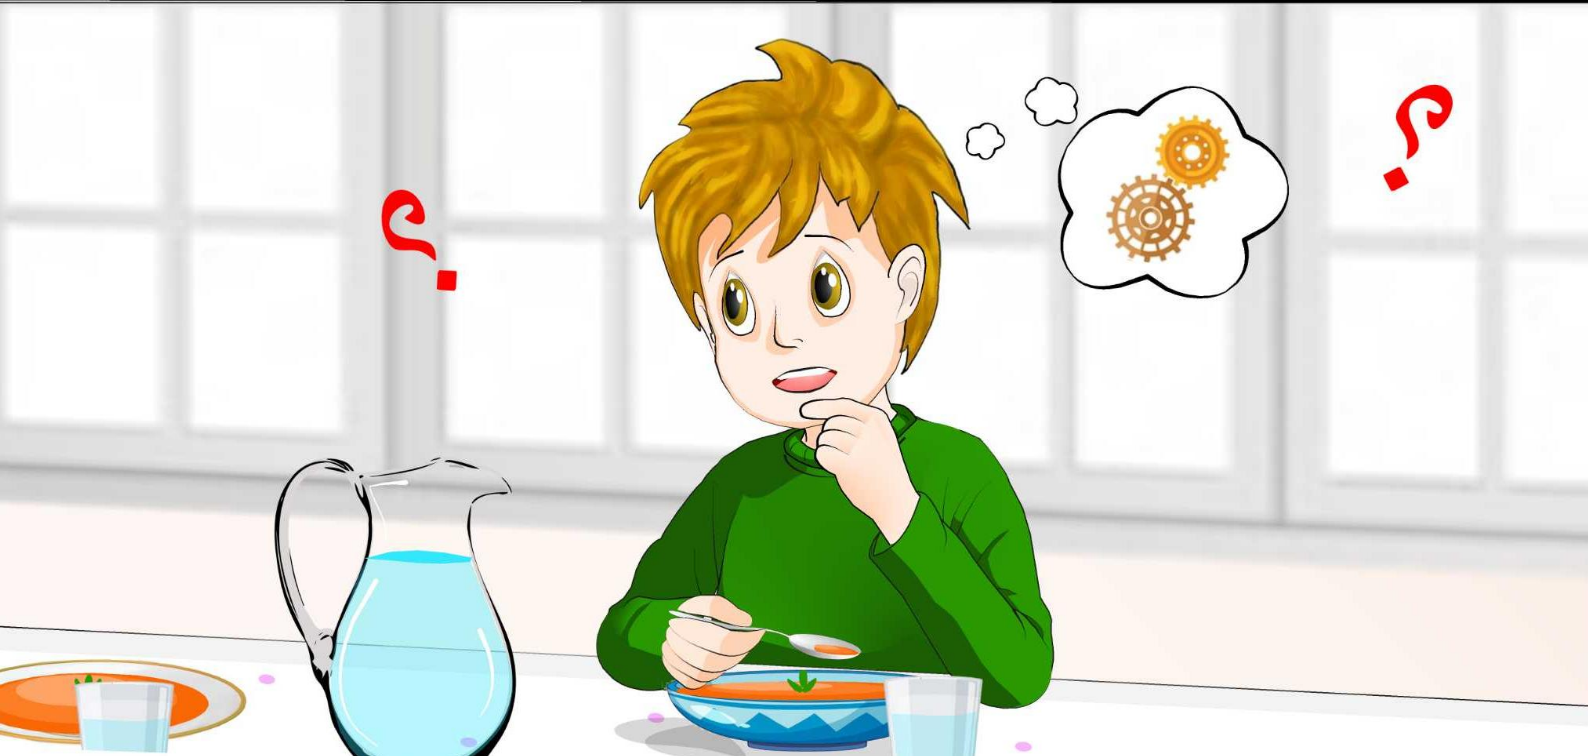

Anas:

No, I just say them because you taught me to!

Dad:

It means: I seek help through two of Allah's most beautiful names—al-Rahman and al-Raheem.

Anas:

I don't understand... What does "I seek help" mean?

Mom:

It means: I ask for support from Allah, who is merciful to everyone and especially merciful to the believers.

Anas:

That's amazing—to receive help from Allah!

Dad:

Yes, He will help you by keeping Satan and harm away from you.

And He will make your food beneficial and show you mercy through it!

Everyone:

Then let's say it together: Bismillah al-Rahman al-Raheem!!!
